

A two-story house with a grey facade is decorated for Halloween. The windows are lit from within, showing various Halloween-themed decorations: jack-o'-lanterns, bats, and a cat. The front door is green with a decorative glass panel. A set of stone steps leads up to the door, flanked by black metal railings. Small lanterns are placed on the steps. The house is set against a dark, cloudy night sky with a large, full, orange-tinted moon and several black bat silhouettes flying around it. The overall atmosphere is spooky and festive.
