The Snow Vibes Festival is an open-air electro festival that has been taking place for several years now at 2200 metres above sea level, in the heart of the Alps, in the Swiss ski resort of Nendaz. The next edition planned on the 11th and 12th of April, to close the winter season, has invited DJ stars, like Dimitri Vegas, James Hype, Deborah De Luca and Don Diablo. Throughout the entire weekend, these international superstars will be performing on a stage set in the heart of a stunning Alpine landscape. Over 10,000 visitors are expected to attend this incredible event.

An incredible line-up for an aspiring festival

Launched five years ago, the Snow Vibes has quickly established itself as one of the key winter music events in the mountains. Over the years, the festival has welcomed major performers from the electronic music scene such as Robin Schulz, R3hab, Benny Benassi, Lost Frequencies, Kungs, Ofenbach, W&W, Nervo and Lilly Palmer.

Among the dozen or so artists who are set to perform at Snow Vibes this year are four women. And that's pretty rare ! Techno queen Deborah De Luca, who has almost 3 million followers on Instagram, will be joining Belgian artist MTTN on Sunday. Croatia's Knoll Doll will precede Berlin's Acina, a rising figure on the hard techno scene, who will electrify the Saturday crowd with her own productions, some of which have gone viral over the networks.
